Who Formulated AquaPeace?

AquaPeace is designed by a group of researchers, nutritionists, and medical professionals with the aim of promoting healthy ear health for all people around the world. The scientists discovered the root cause of poor hearing and deduced a formula inspired by Sea Anemones.

These sea animals have tentacles similar to our ear hair cells, which help them to sense movement in their surroundings. After thoroughly researching how sea anemones sense their prey, AquaPeace was introduced to help individuals improve their hearing.

According to the makers, the circulation of fatty acids and nutrients in Sea Anemones helps them sense their environment and also contributes to their tentacle's health. Hence, AquaPeace was loaded with those plant and sea algae extracts that are rich in nutrients similar to what these sea animals have.

All of these ingredients have unique nutrient qualities that can contribute to keeping our auditory health better.

How Does AquaPeace Work To Promote Healthy Auditory Health?

According to a recent discovery, people have poor hearing or hearing loss due to various psychological and medical conditions. Many ear infections, health issues like diabetes, high blood sugar, or high blood pressure can contribute to hearing loss.

These health problems can break the supply of proper nutrients and oxygen to the inner ear hair cells. As a result, many people suffer from poor auditory health, and simultaneously, it impacts their mental health.

In such cases, supplements like AquaPeace, which are rich in nutrients like vitamins, minerals, antioxidants, etc., can positively impact the health of ears. The reason is this deep-sea complex is inspired by the extraordinary hair cells of Sea Anemones.

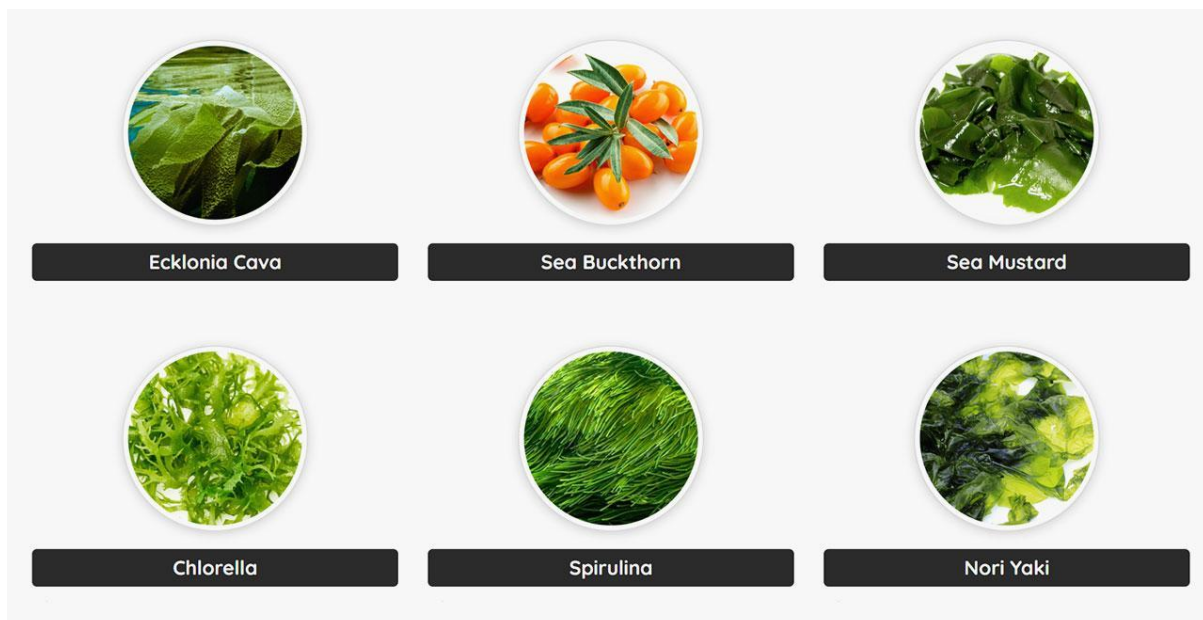

The way these underwater beings can easily sense their prey through their optimal hair cell health because of the proper circulation of nutrients and fatty acids. In a similar way, AquaPeace boosts the health of our ear hair cells by promoting optimal blood circulation, which is rich in vitamins, fatty acids, antioxidants, and minerals.

This is how AquaPeace supports individuals' auditory, cardiovascular, and mental health.

What Are The Different Types Of Aquatic Ingredients Present In AquaPeace?

Following is an overview of some of the chief marine ingredients present in the supplement that promote hearing health:

Ecklonia Cava

Ecklonia cava is a brown seaweed that belongs to the family of Phaeophyceae. It is found in the ocean waters off the coast of Japan and Korea and is known for its high concentration of polyphenols, which are natural compounds that have antioxidant properties. These polyphenols are responsible for the many health benefits of Ecklonia cava, including its ability to promote healthy hearing and normal ear function.

The polyphenols in Ecklonia cava have strong antioxidant activity, which helps to protect the cells in the inner ear from oxidative stress. Oxidative stress is a process that occurs when there is an imbalance between the production of reactive oxygen species (ROS) and the body's ability to detoxify them. This can lead to damage to the cells in the inner ear and can contribute to hearing loss.

Sea Mustard

Sea mustard has been shown to help prevent hearing disorders by protecting the inner ear from damage caused by oxidative stress and inflammation. A meta-analysis of several studies showed that sea mustard supplementation could significantly reduce the hearing loss caused by noise exposure.

The antioxidant and anti-inflammatory properties of sea mustard help to reduce the damage caused by free radicals and inflammation in the inner ear.

In addition to preventing hearing disorders, sea mustard can also optimize ear health in various ways. The high levels of iodine in sea mustard can help to regulate the thyroid gland, which is important for maintaining overall health.

Sea Buckthorn

Sea buckthorn is a thorny, deciduous shrub that is native to Europe and Asia. It has been used for centuries in traditional medicine to treat a variety of ailments, including digestive disorders, skin conditions, and wound healing. The shrub produces bright orange berries that are rich in vitamins, minerals, and antioxidants.

It is rich in antioxidants, which help to protect the cells of the ear from damage caused by free radicals. Free radicals are unstable molecules that can cause oxidative stress, which has been linked to hearing loss and other ear disorders.

Chlorella

One way in which chlorella works to prevent hearing disorders is by reducing oxidative stress in the ear. A study published in the Journal of Medicinal Food found that chlorella supplementation reduced oxidative stress markers in the cochlea of rats exposed to noise-induced hearing loss. The researchers concluded that chlorella may have a protective effect against noise-induced hearing loss by reducing oxidative stress in the ear.

In addition to its antioxidant and vitamin content, chlorella also has anti-inflammatory properties that can help reduce inflammation in the ear.

A study found that chlorella supplementation reduced inflammation in the cochlea of rats exposed to noise-induced hearing loss. The researchers concluded that chlorella may have a protective effect against noise-induced hearing loss by reducing inflammation in the ear.

Spirulina

Spirulina contains phycocyanin, a blue pigment that has been shown to have anti-inflammatory and antioxidant properties.

A meta-analysis of 13 studies published in the journal Nutrients in 2018 found that Spirulina supplementation had a positive effect on hearing function in humans. The studies included in the analysis looked at the effects of Spirulina on a range of hearing disorders, including noise-induced hearing loss, age-related hearing loss, and tinnitus.

The analysis found that Spirulina supplementation improved hearing thresholds, reduced the severity of tinnitus, and improved speech recognition in people with hearing loss.

Nori Yaki

Nori Yaki is rich in various nutrients that are essential for maintaining good health, including vitamins A, C, and B12, as well as minerals such as iron, calcium, and magnesium. However, the specific mechanism by which Nori Yaki promotes healthy hearing and normal ear function is related to its high content of a specific type of fatty acid known as omega-3.

Studies have shown that omega-3 fatty acids can help protect these hair cells from oxidative stress by reducing inflammation and promoting the production of antioxidants. In addition, omega-3 fatty acids have been shown to improve blood flow to the inner ear.
