Derma Prime Plus ingredients and their uses

Here is the list of Derma Prime Plus ingredients. Make sure that you are not allergic to any of them through this Derma Prime Plus review.

- Chanca Piedra (Phyllanthus niruri)

It's a tropical growing herb that also goes by a couple of names such as stone breaker, quebra pedra, and shatter stone among others. The leaves, stems and flowers are used in skincare supplements. It has a direct positive effect on the liver, kidney, and digestive systems.

- Ginger (Zingiber officinal)

Ginger is integrated into Derma Prime Plus due to its anti-inflammatory and antioxidant properties. The root which is known for its spicy nature finds its use in the skincare formula because of its ability to reduce wrinkles appearance, keep the hair and scalp in good health, fade scars, and get rid of acne. It also limits skin oil production.

- Burdock Root (genus Arctium)

Its anti-inflammatory and anti-bacterial properties make it a relevant skin beauty supplement as it helps fight off skin diseases like eczema, wrinkles, acne, and even scaly skin and dry patches. The plant originated in North Asia and Europe and has extended to Northern America in recent years. Having its root loaded with antioxidants and inulin, it easily remedies skin disorders as mentioned earlier.

- Beet Root (Beta vulgaris)

It is predominantly rich in vitamin C and minerals which seem to make it able to brighten the skin, give it a younger look, help it fight acne, and provide antioxidant and anti-inflammatory health benefits to your skin. A 2023 study reveals that vitamin C from beetroot can be used for the treatment of hyperpigmentation. Treated hyperpigmentation results in low melanin production. Hence, its use in Derma Prime Plus.

- Artichoke (Cynara Cardunculus)

Found to grow in the Mediterranean, its extract is rife with compounds that are found in the plant. The herb abounds in fiber, antioxidants plus other nutrients that help to boost skin glow and moisture retention. Its extensive functions could include a reduction in blood sugar levels, digestion improvement as well as heart and liver wellness. The same plant has been found to have caused an impairment in cancer growth according to animals and test-tube studies.

Other ingredients include Milk thistle, jujube seed, dandelion, etc.
