WHAT ARE THE CAUSES OF ERECTILE DYSFUNCTION?

male erectile problems

Regular use of Manximo Gel gel on can bring all the desired results, but it is worth finding out beforehand what are the causes of erectile problems that occur. There are quite a few of them, and, worst of all, many turn out to be the result of our own mistakes and negligence, primarily of our own health.

By the term erection we mean the ability of a man to achieve a full, strong erection under the influence of sexual stimuli acting on him and, most importantly, to maintain it throughout intercourse. Unfortunately, this is not always possible, and the condition also negatively affects mental well-being, leading to declining self-esteem, relationship problems and even severe depression. The most common causes of erectile dysfunction are:

IMPROPER DIET

That is, simply a poor diet that causes disruption to almost the entire body, also having a negative impact on maintaining full sexual performance. The male diet is often dominated by everything unhealthy, sugar, highly processed foods, fast food, drinking alcohol and smoking, excess trans fats. In turn, it lacks vitamins, minerals and other ingredients that promote potency. Such nutrition leads not only to overweight and obesity, but also to other conditions with which we can forget about erection.

SEDENTARY LIFESTYLE

The bane of modern society, avoidance of all forms of Physical activity, daily dose of outdoor exercise. This causes a decline in fitness, which is also necessary for sex, as well as cardiovascular disease, so that blood can not properly flow to the penis, which determines the achievement of an erection. So if you want to enjoy a successful intimate life until old age, you definitely need to change your current habits and move from the armchair.

MENTAL DISORDERS

Which can, in the absence of counteraction, lead to increasing sexual frigidity and even impotence. Their cause, among other things, is long-term stress practically completely deregulating the body, also negatively affecting the ability to obtain an erection or maintain it. Other states of nervous tension and depression have the same effect.

OTHER COMORBIDITIES

Another cause of erectile difficulties are a number of diseases, one of the symptoms of which is decreased libido. These involve, among other things, hormonal management, a decline in the level of the most important male hormone, testosterone. Similar effects can be caused by thyroid diseases and the effects of mechanical damage to the genitals, trauma, injury and even complications from surgery.

MANXIMO GEL – WHAT IS IN ITS COMPOSITION?

If the erection enhancement gel is to be really effective, it should have a composition chosen precisely with this in mind. All the ingredients must hit precisely at the source of the problem, removing not only the symptoms, but also the cause. As we have already mentioned, they should also be safe for the user, which is what it is Manximo Gel . It uses the following natural active substances:

GUARANA

guarana

The extract obtained from this exotic plant is characterized by its rich composition, containing, among other things:

- B vitamins, thiamine (B1), riboflavin (B2), niacin (B3), folic acid (B9), cobalamin (B12);
- vitamin C, a valuable antioxidant;
- unsaturated fatty acids Omega-3 and Omega-6;
- proteins, catechins, polyphenols, polysaccharides, saponins, tannins and many others.

These are what give guarana its properties, and among those conducive to male erection, one must highlight:

- stimulating effect, providing a lot of energy needed also for sex;
- improved venous microcirculation, allowing the correct amount of blood to flow to the penis;
- more efficient delivery of other nutrients to every cell in the body;
- better concentration and mental performance.

GINSENG

Korean ginseng

A plant with so many known health-promoting properties that it was mandatory to include it in Manximo Gel's formulation. Ginseng provides the male body with such compounds as:

- thiamine, vitamin B1;
- choline, vitamin B4;
- vitamin C and vitamin E;
- phenolic compounds and phytosterols;
- minerals: zinc, phosphorus, silicon, magnesium, manganese, calcium, sulfur, iron.

Their positive effects will be felt by any man whose erection is far from perfect, primarily:

- adaptogenic and rejuvenating;
- antioxidant and anti-inflammatory;
- increased production of nitric oxide that improves blood flow;
- reduction of negative effects of stress.

GINKGO BILOBA

Ginkgo biloba

Another frequently used name for this tree, which is native to faraway China, is Ginkgo biloba, and in the composition of this gel the extract obtained from it was not found by chance. The manufacturer primarily appreciated the action of the substances it contains, which are:

- phenolic acids;
- flavonoids;
- terpenes;
- carotene;
- vitamin C and vitamin E;
- selenium.

Ginkgo biloba is considered a potent natural aphrodisiac, whose effects boil down to:

- dilation of blood vessels;
- improving blood flow and reducing blood clotting;
- improved blood supply to the brain, which has a beneficial effect on memory and concentration;
- reduction of “bad” cholesterol LDL.

COMMON IVY

ivy

A common plant that grows in our forest gardens, finding increasing use in dietary supplements due to the presence of:

- essential oils;
- triterpene saponins;
- phenolic acids;
- plant sterols;
- flavonoids.

Such a composition affects all the medicinal properties of the plant and at the same time erection support gel:

- sealing the walls of blood vessels and strengthening them;
- improving blood flow;
- analgesic, anti-inflammatory and reducing swelling.

PEPPERMINT

Peppermint

Long used in herbal medicine, characterized not only by its characteristic smell, but also by many nutrients in its composition, also important for male erection, such as:

- peppermint oil;
- vitamin A;
- B vitamins;
- vitamin C;
- vitamin D;
- vitamin E;
- carotene and rutin;
- minerals: magnesium, potassium, calcium and iron.

Of the properties of this plant, also relevant to the prevention of erectile dysfunction, it is worth highlighting:

- stimulating and refreshing effect;
- anti-inflammatory, antiseptic and local anesthetic properties;
- moisturizing and toning of the skin.

ALOE VERA

aloe vera

Another plant component of Manximo Gel erectile enhancement gel. Everyone has probably heard of aloe vera, but not everyone knows that the extract of these thick, fleshy leaves contains:

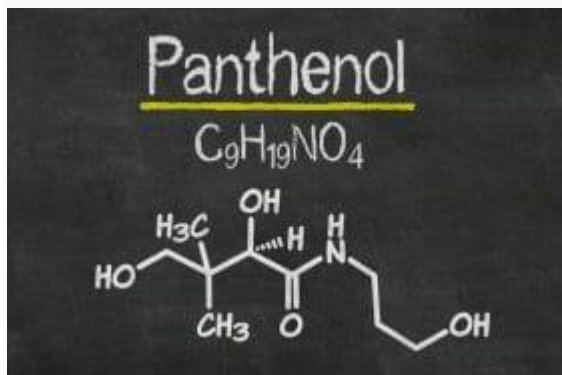

- vitamin A;
- B vitamins, choline (B4), folic acid (B9), cobalamin (B12);

- vitamin E;
- minerals: zinc, chromium, magnesium, potassium;
- 22 amino acids;
- plant steroids.

Using aloe vera attunement gel regularly, we can count on its effects:

- antiseptic;
- firm and deeply moisturized skin;
- soothing and faster healing of irritations and abrasions of the epidermis;
- strengthening the weakened immunity of the body.

D-PANTHENOL

panthenol chemical formula

An ingredient commonly used in creams and gels applied to the skin, so its presence in Manximo Gel is not surprising. D-panthenol is an alcoholic form of provitamin B5 that has properties:

- moisturizing and soothing skin irritation;
- activating epidermal cell division;
- accelerating wound healing;
- strengthening the skin's protective barrier.
