What is Neotonics and Does It Work?

Neotonics is an all-new skin and gut health support supplement developed to help people improve their skin health by restoring the balance of the gut microbiome. The formula is designed in such a way that it targets the root cause of skin aging which is poor gut health and thereby addressing the vital skin rejuvenating process called skin cell turnover.

So, in addition to supporting skin health, the supplement also promotes better digestion and healthy weight. Neotonics comes in gummy form that is easy to take and each bottle contains 30 gummies.

With the ever-increasing popularity of the supplement in the market, several queries are popping up about it such as 'Does Neotonics really work?', 'Is Neotonics a safe skin health support supplement?' and so on. Various reports available and the customer responses shared online suggest that this supplement is effective. Well, this might be the reason why Neotonics gummies are still attracting a lot of attention. Anyway, let's investigate deeper into the whereabouts of this novel skin support formula and see if it is legit.

How

Does Neotonics Work?

According to the information shared by the research team behind the formulation of the supplement, Neotonics gummies work by balancing the gut microbiome in the user's body to regulate the process of skin cell turnover.

What is the gut microbiome?

The gut microbiome, or simply gut flora, are microbes that flourish in the main location of the human microbiome, the gut. The main functions of the gut microbiota include fighting pathogens, boosting immunity, regulating metabolism, supporting skin health, and monitoring several other aspects. So, a healthy gut microbiome is a must for overall homeostasis.

The study that the Neotonics supplement was based on discovered that the skin cell turnover in the body is controlled by the gut. To be more specific, it is dependent on the microbiome balance and smooth nutrient absorption. Before getting into the connection between gut flora and cell turnover, let me tell you what cell turnover is. Cell turnover is the process whereby dead skin cells are shed off and new skin cells form. This process helps get rid of fine lines, wrinkles, and other skin issues. When skin cell turnover slows down, dead cells accumulate and restrict the growth of new cells leading to skin aging.

Now, the findings from the latest research suggest that there is a direct link between the skin and the gut. When gut health starts deteriorating, digestion and nutrient absorption slow down. This results in the slowing down of skin cell turnover leading to dead cell build-up. Also, this leads to unhealthy weight gain and gut problems.

The Neotonics formula becomes significant as it tries to bring in fresh good bacteria into the body to restore gut health. The formula supplies essential probiotics and other high-quality natural ingredients that work in synergy to improve gut flora, speed up cell turnover, and reverse skin aging. So, this is how Neotonics works to balance overall skin and gut health.

Neotonics Ingredients Explained

All the ingredients used in the Neotonics supplement are clearly listed on the supplement label. The formula combines the strength of 500 million good bacteria and 9 potent natural ingredients that are added in amounts safe for human consumption. Each ingredient is backed by solid scientific studies and clinically tested for safety and quality. Below are the main ingredients used in Neotonics along with the benefits that they offer:

- Babchi—The first Neotonics ingredient, Babchi, scientifically known as Cullen corylifolium, is an anal plant with several medicinal properties. According to studies, it reduces skin pigmentation, supports the rejuvenation of skin cells, and boosts collagen-promoting tissues. Due to these properties, Babchi is used to treat rashes, pigmentation, vitiligo, eczema, and psoriasis.
- Inulin -The next ingredient used is Inulin which is a polysaccharide with strong prebiotic effects. Due to this property, inulin supports gut health, improves digestion, and helps treat skin issues. Studies have found that inulin helps treat skin irritation and itchiness.
- Dandelion—Taraxacum officinale or Dandelion is the next Neotonics ingredient that has been used in traditional medicine in North America, China, and Europe. According to a study published in the National Library of Medicine, dandelion helps reverse skin aging and protects the skin from UVB damage. It is also found to reduce digestive issues and treat conditions like cancer.
- Bacillus coagulans—Bacillus coagulans, another ingredient in Neotonics, is a lactic-acid-forming bacteria with probiotic properties. A study that came out in the journal Medicine suggests that Bacillus coagulans helps rebalance the gut microbiota to enhance digestion. Studies also show that this lactic acid bacteria helps reduce acne and treat other skin issues.
- Fenugreek—Another Neotonics ingredient, Fenugreek, is an annual plant cultivated in the Near East. According to a study published in the journal, Pharmaceuticals, fenugreek improves collagen production, enhances cell viability, and fights skin aging. This herb also has anti-inflammatory effects, boosts metabolism, and supports healthy digestion.
- Lemon Balm—Melissa officinalis or Lemon Balm, is a perennial herbaceous plant native to West Asia, Europe, and North Africa. Studies suggest that lemon balm tightens the skin, unclogs pores, and offers anti-bacterial and anti-inflammatory support. This herb also helps reduce digestive issues.
- Organic Ceylon Ginger—Organic Ceylon Ginger is a rhizome with several medicinal properties. This ginger rhizome enhances gut health by multiplying good bacteria and thereby enhances digestion. Ceylon ginger also protects skin health and delivers other benefits like healthy weight loss.
- Slippery Elm Bark—Slippery Elm Bark obtained from the elm tree has been used to treat various health issues. Clinical studies have found that this bark is good for the skin as it fights rashes and also offers other health benefits like treating symptoms of irritable bowel syndrome and supporting weight loss.
- Organic Lion's Mane—The next ingredient is Organic Lion's Mane which is a large white mushroom containing bioactive compounds that are good for health. This mushroom has anti-aging effects, supports a healthy immune system, lowers chronic inflammation and oxidative stress, and reduces anxiety and stress.

- Fennel—Fennel is a perennial herb growing in the Mediterranean region. This medicinal plant offers antibacterial, antioxidant, and anti-inflammatory support. Fennel helps repair body tissues, improves heart health, suppresses appetite, and might benefit mental health.

All these Neotonics ingredients work in synergy to offer effective results. For more information on the ingredients, you can visit the official website of the probiotic.

Is Neotonics Supported by Scientific Evidence?

The Neotonics supplement is backed by science and scientific research. The working principle that the supplement follows and the ingredients used in it are backed by scientific studies that are available in federal databases and scientific journals pointing to their safety and efficacy in treating skin and gut issues. Here, a few studies will be discussed.

According to a study published in the journal Gut Microbes, there is a direct connection between skin and gut health which in scientific terms is called the gut-skin axis. Any imbalance in gut microbiota will result in poor digestion and nutrient absorption thereby affecting skin health.

Several studies on the ingredients used in the Neotonics nutritional formula are available online.

- A study that came out in the National Library of Medicine found that dandelions are beneficial in protecting the skin against UVB rays.
- Another study that was published in the journal Medicine suggests that Bacillus coagulans help in improving gut flora and treating digestive issues.

Before and After Success Stories

Feedback from Neotonics Customers

You might come across many Neotonics customer reviews online. But, in reality, only a few of them are genuine. As per the official website, this skincare supplement has delivered positive results to 13,968 customers. The following are a few verified reviews of Neotonics that we have collected from trusted healthcare forums:

Positive User Testimonials

Sophia Thompson, a Data Scientist from Austin, says that Neotonics is the best skin and gut support supplement that she has come across. She says that due to tight work schedules, she could hardly find time for her skincare routine and the worst thing was that she couldn't even have healthy food. Sophia says that the Neotonics formula has helped balance her skin health and to top it all, her gut issues have also disappeared. She is thankful for the supplement and recommends it to everyone struggling with skin and gut problems.

Karen Smith, an Information Security Analyst living in Boston, says that these Neotonics gummies are really effective. With a daily intake of the gummies, her digestive health improved and her skin problems started to alleviate. She remembers that she had been skeptical about health supplements. But, Neotonics has wiped out that thought and she is really grateful to her friend for suggesting this probiotic formula.

Gary Davis, a Criminal Defense Lawyer from Portland says that he started taking the Neotonics supplement after hearing about its hype in the market. He says he was addicted to junk food and that really affected his health. He added that he even started to appear much older than his actual age. But, he says Neotonics has saved his life, and now he feels younger, more energetic, and all the more active.

Neotonics Negative Reviews and Complaints by Users

Christine Miller, an Accountant living in Denver says that trying the Neotonics formula bought from Amazon has been the worst decision and complete waste of money. She says that she purchased the supplement from the platform as special discounts were available and the cost at the time of purchase was just $39 per bottle. She took the gummies for almost 5 months and experienced zero results. This is when she browsed the official website and found that the formula she bought was not original. She realized that she was tricked and even tried contacting the seller but all in vain.

Sales Executive, Ethan Scott from Jacksonville, says that he bought Neotonics at his friend's insistence. He says that he has always been skeptical about health supplements and it is again proven right. Ethan says that he took the gummies for almost 3 weeks and got no results. He is of the opinion that this skin health supplement does not deliver instant results and is not ideal for him. He wasn't ready to try the formula for a longer period to see the results.

Juan Brown, a Clerk from Savannah, says that he purchased the Neotonics formula from a third-party website after seeing the discount offer. He says that buying this so-called skin and gut support formula has been the worst decision he took. When he found no changes in skin health, he tried to contact the seller. This is when he realized that there was no information about the seller available and that he was tricked with the duplicate. Now, he is not even ready to try the original Neotonics formula.

Neotonics Reviews from Trusted Sites

Better Business Bureau (BBB) and Trustpilot are trusted organizations that post legit ratings and reviews of various businesses based on data gathered from federal databases, survey real customers and interact with the companies about their processes and standards. Both these organizations function to boost marketplace trust and present users with information on genuine businesses.

As you browse online, you will not find any Neotonics BBB reviews or Trustpilot reviews as the supplement has not been reviewed by them yet. Well, this might be because the formula is new. This isn't a matter of concern as Neotonics is backed by solid scientific research which we will look into in the upcoming section.

How Neotonics is Manufactured and Ensured for Quality

The research team behind the formulation of Neotonics says that the supplement has been manufactured in FDA-approved and GMP-certified lab facilities in the United States, under strict, sterile, and precise conditions. The supplement is non-GMO, non-habit forming, and free from gluten and stimulants. Also, the ingredients are naturally sourced and subjected to clinical trials to ensure quality.

Regarding the safety of the gummies, no side effects have been reported by the users so far. The few negative reviews point to the slow results and no side effects have been mentioned. Also, each Neotonics ingredient has been mixed in the right amounts safe for human conception. So, this skin probiotic formula seems to cause no side effects. But, make sure to stick to the suggested serving of Neotonics to get the said results.

Taking Neotonics: Dosage Guidelines and Expected Results

Each bottle contains 30 Neotonics gummies which are enough for a month's use. As per the supplement label, you have to take 1 gummy daily to gain a healthy skin and better digestion.

To achieve positive results, the manufacturer recommends taking the Neotonics formula consistently for a period of 3 to 5 months. That being said, the results that users got so far suggest that the time varies for each person. Some customers experienced the results within a few weeks while it took several months for some people to get effective results. The factors that affect the time for results include age, health condition, skin problem, genetic composition, lifestyle, and more. Anyway, the Neotonics manufacturer guarantees results and ensures that there will be no turning back.

Neotonics Pricing and Discounts

Right now, a single bottle of Neotonics that actually costs $99 is available at a discounted price. Well, the original price seems to fit the value of the supplement considering the naturally sourced ingredients and the manufacturing standards followed. This price will be worth it if the supplement will deliver results with daily use. Currently, the manufacturer has lowered the price of Neotonics for a limited period so that all people can buy it and experience the benefits.

The discounted price details of all three Neotonics packages are listed below:

- Get the 1-bottle (30-day) supply of Neotonics at $69 per bottle (Free Shipping)
- Get the 3-bottle (90-day) supply of Neotonics at $59 per bottle (Free Shipping)
