The Science Behind the Q Charge Formula

Q Charge works by using a unique blend of natural ingredients to boost brain activity. Each doctor on the team chose one component and combined them to create a mega formula. Mega meaning it's best for;

- M-Mental Clarity Increase
- E-Alertness Improvement
- G-Growth Support

- A-Advanced Brain Support

The ingredients responsible for making Q Charge a unique and powerful supplement include;

L-Glutamine

L-Glutamine was the first ingredient used in the Q Charge formula. The element is best known for supporting brain functions and health and maintaining neurotransmitter balance. A disruption in the glutamine-glutamate process can lead to brain issues, such as;

- Depression
- Anxiety
- Schizophrenia
- Epilepsy

It has also been shown that l-glutamine aids in the breakdown of dangerous sulfites in the body, eliminates diarrhea symptoms, and boosts athletic performance.

Ginkgo biloba Leaf

Ginkgo biloba leaf is common in many dietary supplements because it has been shown to help the body in various ways. First, it helps lower high blood pressure, fights inflammation, and is high in antioxidants.

It was included in Q Charge because it has also improved brain activity. A National Institute of Health study shows that supplementing your body with ginkgo will boost your brain performance and well-being.

Alpha SMENI SLIKA

If your memory is declining, this is the best ingredient to include in your diet. It helps boost memory by 200% and minimizes brain swelling. Brain swelling is a condition that makes fluid develop in the brain. If not prevented and treated early, it can be life-threatening. Alpha smeni slika is also suitable for curbing congenital disabilities.

N-Acetyl L-Carnitine HCl

This is yet another ingredient that helps to improve brain activity, allowing you to stay alert and focused. It is also ideal for supporting blood sugar levels and activating glucose utilization in the body.

Bacopa monnieri Leaf

The brain has a large number of neurotransmitters responsible for sending electrical signals. These neurotransmitters are chemicals that allow the brain to communicate with other parts of the body and to make decisions based on information received from the senses.

To keep the brain neurotransmitters active, your brain cells must be healthy. Bacopa is an excellent compound for supporting brain cells and improving electrical signals in your brain. It is also suitable for activating the muscles in the body.

St. John's Wort

St. John's wort is another excellent addition to the Q Charge supplement as it helps improve thinking skills, increase intelligence and minimize inflammation. Studies also show that St. John's wort is a suitable element for treating major depression.

Phosphatidylserine Ptd-L-Ser

A fatty substance called a phospholipid covers and protects the cells in the brain and carries messages between them. Animal studies suggest that the level of this substance in the brain decreases with age. Phosphatidylserine plays a crucial role in keeping the mind and memory sharp.

Huperzine-A

It helps treat diseases that interfere with memory and thinking by increasing levels of the chemical acetylcholine. People use huperzine A to improve memory and mental function in people with Alzheimer's disease or types of dementia.
