

SEMAXIN - SEMAXIN REVIEW - SEMAXIN SIDE EFFECTS – SOLVES ALL MALE POTENCY PROBLEMS

It would be hard to find a man who to a greater or lesser extent does not complain about potency problems. Contrary to appearances these are not ailments encountered only by middle-aged or elderly men, more and more frequently younger men complain e.g. of erectile dysfunction having various causes.

Decreased sexual performance does not have to be a reason to panic, frustration or shame, but it should be counteracted immediately, which can be effectively helped by dietary supplements such as Semaxin which also have a positive effect on semen production and quality.

POTENCY AND FERTILITY DISORDERS – WHAT CAUSES THEM MOST OFTEN

A frustrated man in bed

However, before we reach for these pills recommended by specialists, it is worth knowing the causes of such ailments, which in many cases are our own fault. They may result from poorly selected diet, which weakens rather than strengthens our potency and lacks ingredients essential for achieving a proper erection.

The male organism also undergoes changes caused by age, when in a natural but fortunately to a large extent reversible manner sexual efficiency decreases. To these two causes can be added several more, and specialists in this type of disease pay attention primarily to:

- exposure to prolonged stress, which is the cause of increasing physical and mental fatigue, one of the symptoms of which turns out to be problems with obtaining and maintaining an erection, often making it impossible to have intercourse, which causes even more frustration and discouragement to intercourse;
- alcohol abuse, the biggest enemy of male sexual performance, after drinking of which we are usually unable to stand up to the task;
- psychological problems, originating even from the period of our childhood, which is particularly strong in the case of people brought up in families with conservative views on sex, in which this subject was treated as the proverbial taboo;

- diseases such as hypertension and other conditions hindering proper blood flow, which in case of disturbed blood supply to the penis directly affects the quality of erection. These disorders are just as often encountered with thyroid problems, kidney failure and other urological diseases or diabetes;
- disorders of spermatogenesis, formation and maturation of sperm, increasing with age, which, combined with a decrease in testosterone levels, causes not only erectile dysfunction, but also low fertility.

For most of the aforementioned causes of sexual performance problems, the following supplements prove to be effective Semaxin. The active ingredients contained in it will quickly restore our lost form.

SEMAXIN – AS MANY AS 12 EFFECTIVE AND SAFE ACTIVE INGREDIENTS

semaxin

Testing Semaxin. As with other supplements of this type, we paid most attention to its composition, which contains as many as 12 active substances thanks to which you can become a man again in the full sense of the word.

All disturbed or even lost sexual functions will be restored instantly, which is mainly the responsibility of such noteworthy Semaxin ingredients as:

- Astragalus root extract (containing as much as 16% of polysaccharides), which is an underestimated plant that has a beneficial effect on the immune system, the heart and the entire circulatory system, allowing the maintenance of correct blood pressure and enabling the achievement of a strong erection. Astragalus also improves fertility levels by increasing sperm motility as well as our overall physical condition and good mood;
- tribulus terrestris extract, or Mace, which mainly helps to maintain high levels of testosterone, the most important male hormone. This ensures no erection problems, better physical and mental condition and a big boost of energy, also needed for sex;
- extract from saffron flower, an extremely effective stimulant of male libido, an aphrodisiac known and valued for thousands of years, also having a positive effect on the quality and duration of erections and increasing the amount of produced semen
- Vitania osprey extract, also known as ashwagandha or Indian ginseng, a plant with adaptogenic properties, increasing testosterone levels, eliminating erectile dysfunctions, increasing the body's efficiency and physical endurance as well as production and the aforementioned motility of sperm cells, thanks to which the chance of successful fertilisation increases significantly;
- N-acetyl-L-cysteine, abbreviated as NAC, a valuable amino acid in the most easily absorbable form, effective in removing the negative effects of oxidative stress, taking an active part in the process of glutathione synthesis. It is a substance with antioxidant properties, protecting DNA cells, important from the point of view of the quality of genetic material contained in semen;

- a set of vitamins and minerals, including: vitamin E, vitamin B12, zinc, folate and selenium Selenium SeLECT[®], essential for the correct course of spermatogenesis, increasing testosterone levels and fertility;
- Black Pepper Fruit Extract BioPerine[®], which contains up to 95% of piperine, a substance with comprehensive and complex action. It strengthens the immune system, prevents cardiovascular diseases, removes dangerous toxins thanks to its diuretic properties, slows down neurodegenerative processes, eliminates free radicals which are the cause of cancer and facilitates fat burning;
- coenzyme Q10, which is essential for the proper functioning of virtually every cell in our body, ensures their proper oxygenation, effectively supports the treatment of many dangerous diseases such as atherosclerosis, diabetes, circulatory insufficiency or hypertension, which is important for maintaining full sexual performance.
